About Christine:

Christine is an artist through and through - She grew up in England where she always showed a passion for art by excelling in all her classes from an early age through to adulthood. After studying at Art College she went on to do a degree in Graphic Design.

Her art gained recognition by winning the National Sign Centre Award after which she was offered employment in London with a prestigious design agency which formed a basis for her creative career, later refining her skills to become a proficient art teacher with a gift for building an exceptional rapport with children.

Christine travelled extensively and taught art for ten years in Germany and the UAE before taking up residence and teaching art in Queensland and is now enjoying living in Sydney.

Class outcomes:

If you want your child to unlock the door to creativity and have fun, then these classes are perfect! Vibrancy and colourful individuality are the core of these workshops.
